

THE END OF UNHYGIENIC TOILET BRUSHES!

Danish award-winning invention combines ultimate hygiene with elegant design, in a sustainable quality with a long life-span.

The Danish brand Sanimaid is already being sold in many countries, and for good reason too. Sanimaid has developed the market's most hygienic toilet brush, and in these times, excellent hygiene can save lives. We all know the classic toilet brush and all of its disadvantages. It is probably the home's most disgusting and ugly product and no longer belongs in a modern home. Sanimaid is an innovative quality product and has been developed for daily use.

The cleaning head has no bristles, thus toilet paper and other impurities don't get stuck like with traditional brushes. The head is designed so that you can easily clean the entire bowl and also under the rim. The water-repellent material ensures that the toilet brush is always clean and dry, so that water from the toilet doesn't drip on the seat and floor nor in the holder itself.

99,9% BACTERIA FREE
To avoid the risk of infection, Sanimaid uses Microban® anti-microbial technology in their products. The extra-long ergonomic handle has a built-in antibacterial technology, which kills 99.9% of bacteria to prevent the spread of infection and reduces bad smells, for example with the microfibre cloth. This is very clever and ensures good hygiene, especially for products that are used by many people – such as the toilet brush.

BEST IN TEST

Sanimaid's various products have been thoroughly tested by more than 20 Danish families, who have tested the products for 30 days. The families evaluated Sanimaid on the basis of 4 important parameters such as quality, value, usability and durability. Sanimaid scores top marks on all parameters, which can be found on www.testfamilien.dk

SANIMAID IS USED EVERYWHERE FROM THE NATIONAL HOSPITAL TO PRIVATE HOMES

It is not only private households that have taken to Sanimaid's hygienic products. Many public places such as schools, public institutions and even Denmark's National hospital use Sanimaid today. You will also find a Sanimaid in the bathrooms of many hotels and offices. It is appreciated by guests, staff and customers alike who want to experience a better and more hygienic environment.

WINNER OF GLOBAL INNOVATION AWARD

Sanimaid is a Danish invention that was introduced back in 2017. The sibling duo Stig and Winnie won the acclaimed GIA award (Global Innovation Award) for best new cleaning product. Since then, it has been going strong with sales in 18 countries and almost 1/2 a million products sold, it is a real Danish success. Sanimaid was also part of the Danish version of 'Dragons Den' and received great recognition from the astute dragons, who, however, were not hungry enough to invest in the company.

GET RID OF LIMESCALE IN THE TOILET! ONCE AGAIN FIRST TO LAUNCH A WORLDCLASS INVENTION

Sanimaid was among the first with their patented bristleless toilet brush. Now they are again introducing an innovative product that solves an everyday problem, namely their latest invention 'WC Stain Remover', which removes limescale stains in the toilet bowl in a new, smart and efficient way. All types of limescale stains are easily removed with the effective sanding pads which leave a perfect result. Stop having to use chemicals and avoid putting your hand in the toilet bowl with a large pumice stone to remove limescale stains. You can also effectively use it on tiles in the shower cubicle.

A SUSTAINABLE ALTERNATIVE THAT MAKES SENSE

Many households still use the cheap white toilet brushes. Sanimaid is not only a better solution, but often also a cheaper solution. Sanimaid is made with high quality materials which ensure a long product lifespan and they offer a 5-year warranty. The fact that you do not have to replace the toilet brush regularly, means it is both good for the environment and the wallet.

In addition, you will also save on water consumption, as you do not have to flush twice to clean the brush, as it does not have bristles.

Conclusion

Sanimaid helps to create a healthier environment in the bathroom with their innovative products. The perfect combination of excellent hygiene and functional design, makes Sanimaid a great purchase, which you will appreciate on a daily basis. Not only that, but they are affordable too. They can be purchased in hardware stores and online.
